Sakr Group

The Sakr Group is a top provider of food and drink, with over 150 goods in 15 categories and six unique brands. Sakr Group is a well-known brand in the world market because of its dedication to offering the best quality, premium flavor, and affordable prices to both domestic and foreign clients as well as food service professionals. Maintaining international standards of quality while providing exceptional flavor to dining tables worldwide is our aim.

Factories

Founded in 1985 with a modest office and a small team of three employees, Sakr Group has grown significantly over the years. Today, we operate eight state-of-the-art factories, producing over 77,000 tons annually and exporting to more than 70 countries. We use the most recent manufacturing, packaging, and storage technology on 18 sophisticated production lines that can process more than 30 tons per hour. We have continuously improved our skills and broadened our reach over the last 38 years to satisfy the requirements of the global food business.
Our butter factory produces a wide variety of natural, blended, and vegetable-based oils. The juice factory manufactures nectars and beverages in an array of flavors. Our cheese range includes processed triangles, spreadable varieties, and cheddar, while our milk, jam, and tomato paste products complete the essentials for every kitchen.

In the last five years, we have leveraged Egypt's agricultural strengths by investing significantly in our fruit concentrate factory. This facility processes a range of high-demand Egyptian fruits, including strawberries mangoes, and guavas. These fruits are converted into concentrates for juices, flavorings, and other food service applications. The factory also plays a key role in processing tomatoes for products such as puree, paste, and salsa, which are staples in Middle Eastern cuisine and are consumed globally. We also operate a factory dedicated to processing frozen vegetables, taking full advantage of Egypt's agricultural output. This factory processes a wide range of locally grown vegetables. Additionally, we distribute fresh produce such as strawberries, oranges, and tomatoes, further highlighting the richness of Egypt's agricultural offerings.

Tomato Products

At Sakr, we use Egyptian tomatoes with high quality of tomatoes to produce tomato concentrate for several tomato products, including tomato puree, paste, salsa, and passata, each depending on the concentration of tomato and brix. Tomato concentrate prepared by concentrating the juice or pulp obtained from substantially sound, mature red tomatoes strained or otherwise prepared to exclude the majority of skins, seeds, and other coarse or hard substances in the finished product and the concentrates shall have good flavor and odour, fairly good red color, and homogeneous texture, as a characteristic of the Product.

Puree:

This is a smooth mixture of crushed tomatoes with the seeds and skins removed. It typically has a lower concentration of tomato solids and usually contains no less than seven percent but less than 24 percent of natural total soluble solids) (ranging from %16-14 and a higher brix level of around %12-10). This makes it a good option for sauces that require a thinner consistency.

Paste:

This is a thicker, more concentrated form of tomato puree with a higher concentration of tomato solids, usually, Tomato paste contains at least 24 percent of natural total soluble solids ranging from %30-28. It is used to enhance the sauce's deep flavor and to sauces, stews, and soups.

Passata:

Passata is just %100 tomatoes. Tomatoes are crushed, then puréed, and finally strained to remove any tomato pieces, skins, and seeds to produce a thicker consistency. A thicker, reduced puree with %22-%20 solids and a brix level of %12-%10. Ideal for creating hearty sauces. Passata is a preferred choice for Italian and Mediterranean dishes.

Sauce:

Thin and smooth, with %8-%6 solids and a brix level of %12-%10, ideal for a variety of dishes. Its versatility makes it a kitchen essential, suitable for pizzas, pasta, and more.
